UNITED AGAINST VIOLENCE

Let's unite and strengthen our passion and mission to end violence.

Due to COVID-19, we won't be holding our traditional in-person event this year. But you can still support CPAF's 42nd Annual Benefit so that we can continue to raise much-needed unrestricted funding for our mission to end domestic violence and sexual assault within Asian Pacific Islander communities.

Champions of Change: 2020 Honorees

This year, CPAF is presenting its Champions of Change award to our compassionate and dedicated STAFF. The diverse team of 54 essential workers shows up 24/7, even during this pandemic, to support survivors of domestic and sexual violence and their families. Our community is strengthened by their resilience and bravery.

UNITED AGAINST VIOLENCE

Why is supporting CPAF's work critical during COVID-19?

While social distancing is important for slowing the spread of disease, we know that at times of economic downturn and isolation, incidents of domestic violence and other abuses increase. As an essential agency during the COVID-19 pandemic, CPAF continues to work around the clock to support survivors with emergency and transitional shelter, as well as counseling, prevention, and other services.

- We are a proud partner in the City of Los Angeles' Project Safe Haven program, which was established during the pandemic to place survivors in temporary housing when shelters are at capacity.
- Our multi-lingual hotline advocates and volunteers are providing crisis intervention to survivors and helping to connect them to other critical services.
- Our engagement with youth and community members has moved to virtual spaces, with in-language targeted outreach and online forums to build leadership development for violence prevention.

We invite you to join us in our campaign to end domestic and sexual violence.
